The mission of Tacoma-Pierce County Built Green® is to create safer, healthier and more efficient homes while protecting the natural resources of our region.

The Tacoma-Pierce County Built Green® program provides project certification for land development, new single and multi-family home construction, and remodeling components, suppliers and real estate professionals.

The Tacoma-Pierce County Built Green® Program is a certification program that recognizes industry members who build above and beyond regulatory code. Because the program is menu-driven, Built Green® homes and remodels are unique.

Since launching in 2003, TPCBG has certified over 4700 homes in greater Pierce County.

Projects that are certified through Built Green® have demonstrated achievement in several areas of environmental responsibility:

- Preserving natural processes through responsible site and water management;
- Lowering operating costs through energy-efficient equipment and systems;
- Reducing toxins and pollutants for a healthier indoor environment;
- Minimizing waste by careful materials selection and jobsite recycling.

Certifying homes to Built Green® provides recognition for the quality work you do. It also gives you a definite sales advantage in today’s competitive market, including the ability to list your homes as Built Green® certified with the Northwest Multiple Listing Service. With careful planning and smart decisions, achieving Built Green® certification is simple and cost-effective. By partnering with building industry experts, state and local government officials, and resources like Northwest ENERGY STAR® Homes, Built Green® programs have made Washington a leader in building a sustainable future.
